

APPLICATION FOR JUNIOR MEMBERSHIP

Junior membership of the Institute may be awarded to applicants between ages of 13 and 18 years old who have an interest in science technology. No qualifications are required for this grade of membership. Junior members would be allowed to attend any of the Institute's General Meeting, but would not be able to vote or use any designatory letters after their name. They would not receive the Journal however they would have password access to the Institute website. They would also be able to write or email the Institute for career advice.

The Institute of Science Technology (IST) will encourage the Juniors to form into Groups within their school or area. The IST will also endeavour to arrange meetings and talks especially for the Juniors. Perhaps a Junior Scientist Chat-room can be set up. In certain areas an annual prize for the best innovative science technology project might be set up.
